'ROARING 20'S' RESTAURANT OPENS HERE

For an evening of "real pleasure and fun" in an atmosphere reminiscent of the flapper era, a new and exciting restaurant has recently opened at 16612 Crenshaw Blvd. called "The Roaring 20's."

It features a new show bar with all the color and intrigue of the unforgettable jazz age. Steak dinners are their specialty with a choice of cuts at the low price of only $1.50.

One of the attractions, "Behind the Green Door" is a beautiful mural with caricatures of the personalities that made the Roaring 20's such a memorable time in our history. Entertainment is provided by Bub Thomas, Frankie Lieberman and Chuck Willburn. A free souvenir caricature will be given to all customers.

Torrance Library Will Serve As Regional HQ

Headquarters of the newly enlarged region III of the Los Angeles county public library will continue to be at the Torrance branch library, 1345 Post ave.

Mrs. Dorothy Jamieson who has supervised activities of the Torrance region since it was set up in 1937 when it comprised but two branches, Torrance and Waverly, and who took on supervision of North Torrance when that branch was opened and added to the region in January, 1952, now has supervision of fourteen branches.

The region, enlarged as part of the County Library's plan of expansion now comprises in addition to North Torrance at 3614 174th st., and Waverly at 3815 West 232nd st., Carson, at 554 East 231st st.; Dominguez, 2749 Jackson st.; Gardena, 561 West Gardena Blvd.; Hermosa Beach, south entrance Municipal Pier; Keystone, 225 East Carson st.; Lawndale, 14700 Grevilla ave.; Manhattan Beach, 1209 Manhattan ave.; Monett, 16432 So. Western ave.; and Strawberry park, 1218 Compton Blvd., Gardena.

Librarian Henderson has announced that regionalization of the library which decentralizes many of the administrative functions was done to speed new books to readers and cut down waiting time on request books.

New books will hereafter be shipped from regional headquarters to the region branches rather than from one central distribution point as in the past.

The proposed $325,000 book budget for the coming fiscal year which starts July 1, will be apportioned among the eight regions, permitting each to choose the titles best suited to satisfy reading needs of library users within the area.

Reference collections and service at each headquarters are being materially strengthened, Henderson has said, and books added as rapidly as funds permit.
